

FARM PROGRAM MODIFICATION IS DISCUSSED

Widespread Drought May Cause Change In Plans

Washington, July 6.—(AP)—The House Agriculture committee plans to reach an official determination in the fall as to whether there should be modifications in the farm program of the widespread drought which has beaten production control programs in some instances to the job of cutting supplies.

This was disclosed today by Rep. Jones (D-Tex.), chairman of the committee. The Texas said there had been "some very general" discussions of the situation already.

Chart Course
The fact the committee plans roughly to chart its course considerably ahead of the next session of Congress was interpreted by most observers to mean there might be important changes in the act.

Jones, in the course of a projected speaking drive in behalf of administration agricultural policies expects to visit part of the drought belt. During that trip, he plans to seek the views of farm leaders as to what changes should be made in the adjustment setup, as well as to get a first-hand picture of the situation.

Meanwhile, farm administration leaders have several plans in mind involving changes in the act as it stands.

For one thing, they are considering seriously the desirability of revising their program from its present emergency basis to a long-time basis.

There likewise is a distinct possibility that they may ask that the act, passed under the emergency clause and subject to expiration upon proclamation of the president that the emergency has ended, be made a permanent law.

Already the drought situation has caused the virtual abandonment of the cattle adjustment program and rulings vastly liberalizing restrictions placed upon the cultivation of contracted acreage. These latter have the effect of opening the door wide to the growing of forage crops, including corn and grain sorghums, on contracted land.

In addition, the farm administration has about decided to abandon control over hog production, as well as cattle, in favor of a close supervision over the correlated growing of feed crops, to allow increased production of cotton and wheat and to employ a single reduction contract to cover all feed grains subject to curtailment.

PLEADS GUILTY

Madison, Wis., July 6.—(AP)—Patricia Cherrington, 30, pleaded guilty in U. S. District Court here today to charges of harboring John Dillinger and his slain aide, Tommy Carroll, and was sentenced to two years in the federal women's reformatory at Alderson, W. Va.

In imposing sentence, Judge Patrick Stone expressed the opinion that she was more involved with the Dillinger gang than the three other young women who are arrested following a raid by federal agents on the Little Bohemia resort in northern Wisconsin in search of the gang.

She received a two-year sentence on each of two counts, to run concurrently. One charged her with harboring Dillinger and Carroll at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., and the other with harboring them at St. Paul, Minn., and the Little Bohemia raid but was arrested in Chicago three weeks ago.

Diet Of Peanuts Popcorn, Candy Too Much For Blackie

Elgin, Ill., July 6.—(AP)—A steady diet of peanuts, popcorn and candy for 30 years was too much for Blackie—and today he is dead.

Three decades of Elgin children fed Blackie this unwholesome diet in his home in the rear pits of Lords Park 200, having the way for his untimely demise at the age of 36. His health was so undermined that the park commission ordered him shot.

In the years before he was given to the Elgin zoo by the Lincoln Park zoo in Chicago, Blackie frequently was taken to the Chicago Cubs baseball park to perform for crowds of fans. As patriarch of the Lords Park zoo, Blackie received constant attention, it didn't turn Blackie's head—but his digestion couldn't take it.

SIAMESE TWIN WILL TAKE HER CASE TO COURT

Will Demand Marriage License Be Issued In New York

New York, July 6.—(AP)—As a point of pride, Violet Hilton, starboard half of the Hilton sisters, Siamese twins, decided today to wage a court fight for a marriage license here rather than accept an invitation to wed in Marion, Ark.

Red-haired Violet wants to marry Maurice Lambert, musician. City officials yesterday denied their application for a license.

"The very idea is quite immoral and indecent," declared Acting Corporation Counsel William C. Chanler, approving the action of Russell T. Box, one of his assistants, in refusing the license.

While the twins' lawyer was scurrying around today, looking up the law in order to apply in supreme court for a mandamus writ directing the New York City clerk to grant the license, Miss Hilton received the invitation from Arkansas.

It came from A. B. Carter, deputy county clerk of Crittenden county.

A little later, according to a dispatch from Marion, he received a telegram saying Miss Hilton preferred making a legal fight for a license here "as a point of pride," but if the attempt fails the hospitality of Crittenden county would be accepted.

At the office of Irving Levy, the twins' attorney, it was said the application for a mandamus probably could not be prepared before Monday.

Levy's assistants found a scarcity of legal decisions relating to the marriages of Siamese twins. However, they intended to cite the examples of other Siamese twins who had married and raised large families without anybody thinking it was immoral.

Marion, Ark., July 6.—(AP)—Violet Hilton, red-haired Siamese twin, and her fiancé, Maurice L. Lambert, today were invited to come to this Arkansas town to be married, but they declined the offer.

A. B. Carter, deputy county clerk of Crittenden county, who extended the invitation, received a telegram in reply which said Miss Hilton preferred to make a legal fight for a license in New York "as a point of pride," but that if the attempt failed there, Crittenden county's hospitality would be accepted.

BURIAL RACKET IS UNCOVERED IN CHICAGO

Coroner Frank Walsh Claims He Has Been Fighting Group of 'Ghouls'

Chicago, July 6.—(AP)—Coroner Frank J. Walsh today revealed he had uncovered a ring of burial racketeers whose members had robbed the dead.

The official declared he had been fighting a group of "veritable ghouls" since he assumed office. Citing the murder of an underworld figure, he said:

"The body was removed to an undertaking place. The victim's father and sister appeared. The father told the undertaker: 'He is my son, but because of the life he has lived my only interest in him is to see that he is given proper burial.' The undertaker informed him it would cost $325. The father paid him and also turned over a deed to a burial lot. Then he and his daughter went home. 'Some friends were informed that burial would be at 11 o'clock the following morning. They went to the cemetery and were informed the man had been buried at 8 o'clock. The father had the body exhumed. They found it in a rough box instead of a casket. It was lying face down, wrapped in newspapers. 'The undertaker was hailed into court. He was found guilty of operating a confidence game and paid a 'small fine'."

Coroner Walsh also announced he had discharged a county morgue clerk who he said had turned over bodies to certain undertakers for $25 commissions.

WOULD CONTROL PRODUCTION OF ALL LIVESTOCK

Will Limit Amount Of Stock Feed Grown

Washington, July 6.—(AP)—Automatic control of livestock production by limiting the amount of stock feed grown was disclosed today by Secretary Wallace as the probable method for control next year.

The secretary said the feed control method probably would be applied to hogs and poultry and also was under consideration for limiting sheep and cattle supplies.

The agriculture secretary also made it known that drought relief cattle purchasing would about adjust the surplus livestock situation to normal and might obviate the necessity for the cattle production control program planned early in the spring. This would depend on conditions in the drought area during the late summer and winter, he added.

Drought Situation
The drought situation, Wallace said, remained practically unchanged early this week when estimates by state officials placed the number of cattle which must be moved from the 23 drought-affected states at 4,091,000 head.

Good rains might cut down the number which must be bought by about 1,000,000 head and would give the administration time to develop its relief program in more orderly fashion, the secretary added.

Freight rate reductions on shipment of livestock and feed for the drought area will be extended to August 4. A feature of the continuation was the granting of the privilege of returning cattle shipped out of drought areas back to the farms at 15 percent of the regular rate.

An official announcement is expected tomorrow or early next week on the rate of the wheat processing tax during the new marketing season which began July 1. Little or no change in the present tax of 30 cents per bushel is contemplated, Wallace said.

Indications that the administration intended to fight for the marketing agreements in the courts were strengthened today when the department of justice authorized the administration to seek an injunction granted by Judge John E. Barnes of the United States district court at Chicago. Seven milk distributors of Chicago obtained an injunction restraining Secretary Wallace from enforcing the Chicago milk marketing license.

Under these codes, pursuant to rules of conduct laid down by the federal government and supervised closely, industry would be given the chance to govern itself.

Johnson, it was said, has paid particular attention to the correction of monopolistic tendencies charged up to the NRA.

"The federal government," said the Associated Press informant, "would watch closely to prevent any rise in prices it deemed unjustified. If the Sherman anti-trust act continues under suspension, its provisions would probably be guarded by a licensing system to prevent such rises."

"As a measure of protection to the smaller business and industrial man, the federal government would keep a strict watch to prevent any monopolistic tendencies."

For some months, the view has been held by some New Yorkers prominent in industry and finance—and friendly in the main to the aims of the Roosevelt administration—that the federal government should unshoulder the task of governing industry under the NRA.

Some of these men also have felt that unemployment insurance—one of the points in the president's program of social reform for the next Congress—should be a part of any self-governing set-up for industry. They look on such insurance as a duty on industry.

It was not learned, however, whether such a step was contemplated in the supplanting of the NRA.

Johnson has been in New York for several days, consulting with various persons on the change. It was emphasized that he has taken the lead in the reformation. Persons close to the recovery administrator said he has drawn on his own experiences in industry for some phases of the proposed supplanting and also has used ideas advanced in the past by others.

This was taken to mean that Johnson has been in consultation with Gerard Swope, president of the General Electric company, who three years ago advanced a program for stabilization of industry through stabilizing employment and co-ordinating production, all under self-government.

It was held certain that any final plan under which the government would turn over to industry the right to rule itself would contain some form of a guarantee the NRA collective bargaining powers.

RAIN AT SALEM
Salem, Ill., July 6.—(AP)—Drought-stricken Marion county was drenched by a heavy rain this afternoon. In Salem, the rainfall was measured at 1.20 inches, while Centralia and other parts of the county reported approximately the same precipitation.

Farmers said the rain would save the corn crop and other late crops.

Veteran Ferryman Sees Water Mark After 37 Years

Robinson, Ill., July 6.—(AP)—Thirty-seven years ago D. L. Taylor, veteran ferryman, drove a nail in the coffin-dam at Riverton at the lowest level the residents had ever seen the Wabash river.

During many dry seasons, Taylor has compared the river level with that of 1897, but the best he ever has been able to do was feel the nail under water.

Today he went to the dam and saw the nail for the first time. He said the water will have to drop only three quarters of an inch to reach the 1897 level.

NRA WILL BE SUPPLANTED A. P. LEARNS

Self-Government In Industry Being Planned

New York, July 6.—The Roosevelt administration, it was reported tonight by an authoritative source, is working on a plan to supplant the NRA with a strictly regulated self-government for industry.

Hugh S. Johnson, the recovery administrator, initiated such steps several weeks ago in a preliminary set-up given to President Roosevelt for review.

Revisions were suggested. These are being made now for final consideration and approval by the president.

The Associated Press could obtain no direct official government confirmation tonight, but the source of the information is unusually close to the administration. This authority said the plan is almost certain to be effected.

Continue Codes.
As outlined to the Associated Press, the program provides for continuance of codes as a permanent feature of industrial life.

Under these codes, pursuant to rules of conduct laid down by the federal government and supervised closely, industry would be given the chance to govern itself.

Johnson, it was said, has paid particular attention to the correction of monopolistic tendencies charged up to the NRA.

"The federal government," said the Associated Press informant, "would watch closely to prevent any rise in prices it deemed unjustified. If the Sherman anti-trust act continues under suspension, its provisions would probably be guarded by a licensing system to prevent such rises."

Berlin, July 6.—Fears of a new uprising against Adolf Hitler kept Nazi forces on the alert tonight, as the first week after the summary killing of "traitorous" sub leaders came to an end.

That Hitler himself barely escaped death in his "pure" of the revolting Storm Troop chieftains was related at Breslau today on good authority.

Edmund Heines, Breslau police chief and Storm Troop leader, an American citizen there was told, ran up to Hitler with a revolver when the Chancellor raised Ernst Roehm's house at Munich.

One of Hitler's aides shot Heines down, saving the Chancellor, said the American, who heard the account from a former friend of Heines whom he regarded as absolutely reliable.

Von Papen Safe
The position of Vice-Chancellor Franz Von Papen appeared somewhat improved tonight when it was announced that three members of his staff, one of whom had been reported killed, had been released from police custody.

The conservative Vice-Chancellor's adjutant, Fritz Guntner von Tschirsky, who had been reported a suicide, was absolved by police along with Friedrich Karl von Savigny and Margaret von Stotzingen, all members of the Vice-Chancellor's office force.

The police said they found no evidence that any of the three was involved in traitorous activities.

Von Papen was still in office and there was no sign of any change in the plans to retain him and give him a "leave of absence."

While keeping close watch for new outbreaks, the government was busy with its economic problems.

Realizing the acuteness of the economic situation, the authorities took steps to tighten their hold on industry.

There was talk of wartime regulations, including the enforced use of many home-produced substitutes for materials heretofore imported.

Kurt Schmitt, minister of economics, was given sweeping powers to carry out the commercial policies, an act interpreted as a move in the direction of the conservative elements.

Schmitt was even expected by some observers to bring about a relaxation of the anti-Jewish policies as a means of improving foreign trade.

Nazi spokesmen told of the renewed vigilance against revolt after hearing rumors that friends of the executed Roehm, supreme Storm Troop commander, and other victims of Hitler's firing squads were considering a new attempt to overthrow the present government.

Storm Troopers in civilian clothes were said to have met in Berlin secretly today and to have shouted "revenge!"

This and other reported developments caused the guard in Berlin to be strengthened.

The Nazi press department said the list of those executed has been withheld to prevent excitement among their friends.

A full communique from Hitler, telling all about the mutiny, will be forthcoming within a few days, the press department reported.

Victor Lutze, who succeeded Roehm as head of the Storm Troopers, today gave the first official confirmation that the force of 2,000,000 will be reorganized after the July vacation.

Reorganization, he wrote in "Der Angriff," propaganda minister Goebbels' newspaper, might involve a reduction in number.

Most persons in close touch with the situation believe that less than 20 percent of the present number will be retained.

Lutze expressed the view that the former leaders had opened the ranks to communists and other anti-Nazis and declared that hereafter only true Nazis can belong to the organization.

Assurances that the old enemy between the Storm Troopers and the Stahlhelm veterans' organization was ended were given by Franz Seldte, cabinet minister and head of the Stahlhelm.

Seldte told leaders of the organization that he had a long conference with Lutze and that fraternal co-operation will prevail hereafter.

Less than two weeks ago, Hitler turned down a Storm Troop demand from some of the men who since have been executed—that the Stahlhelm be dissolved.

Throughout Silesia, which was particularly disturbed by the killing of the powerful Heines, intense efforts were made to impress the public that the "second revolution" is over and that there is nothing more to be expected except loyal Nazi co-operation.

Commander Herzog, who succeeded Heines as Storm Troop chief for Silesia, indicated that his forces will not be reduced and that students who were serving compulsory terms must continue in the ranks.

RUNS AFOL LAW
Chicago, July 6.—(AP)—Even the divinity student who complained of the nudist wedding has run afoul of the law.

Which puts about everyone who had anything to do with the undraped ceremony in bad with the authorities.

Angered because the complainant, James Patterson, failed to appear when the case against the nudelys, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Wallace Jr., was called today, the judge ordered a capias issued for his arrest.

"Get him and keep him in jail," the judge ordered, and continued the case until tomorrow.

MACNIDER SAYS CONSTITUTION UNDERMINED

Socialist Experiment Is Being Conducted He Claims

Jackson, Mich., July 6.—(AP)—Harold MacNider, former national commander of the American Legion and former United States minister to Canada, in an address here today charged the Democratic administration with conducting a Socialist experiment and placing upon the nation the greatest "debt ever borne by the American people."

"There can be no doubt," he said, "that the constitution is being undermined today."

MacNider was today's principal speaker at the two-day gathering of Republicans celebrating the birth of their party 80 years ago. Tomorrow Henry P. Fletcher, chairman of the Republican National Committee, and U. S. Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg will speak.

Socialist Platform.
There was nothing in the Democratic platform nor in the utterances of that party's candidates," MacNider said, "that even suggested any such program as we are undergoing today. Nor did anyone suspect—and this holds for many stalwart Democrats—that it was the platform of the Socialist party which was to be implemented instead of the one which they appealed for votes. On the Socialist platform their performance for one year is practically 100 per cent. x x x

"What our government needs right now, as only once or twice before has it ever needed anything, is a vigorous, fighting, unified Republican party, re-inspired in the cause which originally gave it birth—the preservation of the constitution."

MacNider asserted that a group of "brilliant young men of no admitted party allegiance, dizzy with sudden and unrestricted power are experimenting with every phase of national life. The industrial and business body of America is securely strapped to the classroom table."

The administration, he went on, has put upon our backs and those of our children after us the largest and most crushing burden of debt ever borne by the American people. If the clutch of the deadening hand of bureaucracy could be pried off the main arteries of America's business and national life we could see tomorrow a new deal that would be a new deal."

The speaker charged the Democratic administration with attempting to turn the nation into a "reform school."

TEN PERSONS ARE KILLED IN RIOTS AT AMSTERDAM

Disorders Break Out in 16 Sections Simultaneously on Friday

Amsterdam, Holland, July 6.—(AP)—Nine or ten persons were reliably reported to have been killed tonight as riots spread throughout Amsterdam.

Confined for 46 hours to the Jordaan district, new disorders tonight broke simultaneously in 16 other sections.

Police and rioters engaged in numerous distinct conflicts, and so many were injured that the sanitary service was scarcely able to handle the rush of the wounded.

The disorders were started in the Jordaan district by unemployed men protesting a cut in the municipal dole. They were joined by communists and for many hours the rioters completely dominated the Jordaan area, a section of workmen's homes.

Troops tonight patrolled the streets of the section on horses, on bicycles and afoot, and police armored cars, equipped with machine guns, sought snipers.

The district was described as a meeting place of revolt, and police feared they would be able to end the disorder only after further bloodshed.

Most of the bridges connecting Jordaan with the rest of the city were closed, but the rioters burned two of them.

Several hundred building trade employees and timber dock workers started a strike in sympathy with the rioters.

A delegation of communist deputies sought a conference with the minister of the interior, but were told they first would have to stop the disorders.

FIRECRACKER VICTIM
Rock Island, Ill., July 6.—(AP)—Anthony Yawich, 10, almost lost his tonsils today while playing with a firecracker which he had found. Thinking the cracker had been exploded, he placed it in his mouth and lighted the end. It blew up, lacerating his tonsils and loosening several teeth. His condition is serious.

POLICEMAN KILLED
Chicago, July 6.—(AP)—Policeman Stanley Bobosky, attached to the stolen auto division of the state's attorney's office, was fatally shot today when he attempted to question three occupants of an auto halted by a traffic light. He died soon after in a hospital.

Widow Of Indian Claims Lawyers Getting Money

Washington, July 6.—(AP)—Mrs. Anna Laura Barnett, widow of the late Jackson Barnett, reputedly the world's wealthiest Indian, today asked the District of Columbia Supreme Court for a share of her husband's money, which she contended has been used as a "political football."

She filed an affidavit asserting some of her husband's purported heirs, whom she described as "imposters," had kept Barnett's estate in litigation for many years, and much of his money had been dissipated in lawyer's fees.

She made the general charge that the $300,000 trust fund placed in the Riggs National bank here to insure the Indian and his family against want had served the bank and certain lawyers and had been used in making government appointments.

Barnett's funds, she said, have been "strewed all the way from Washington to California" and "all those connected with the government concerning the estate have been amply supplied with funds while his family is destitute."

At the same time President Roosevelt's labor dispute board which this far had worked in vain toward a peaceful settlement, issued a statement again appealing to strikers and employers to submit to arbitration.

The board said all parties involved had indicated their willingness to submit to arbitration "but subject to certain conditions," and that the employers had replied similarly. It added, however, that the difference expressed in the varying conditions made it impossible to proceed and suggested the various factions allow the board members to make the conditions upon which peace-making efforts could go ahead.

The board asks all parties to cooperate with us immediately to that end," the statement concluded.

The movement of long delayed cargo from the state-owned waterfront area—a non-union operation which precipitated the clashes and the calling out of 3,000 guardsmen yesterday—continued today with the unloading of various industrial supplies.

On a three-mile front, along the Embarcadero, the state-owned thoroughfare skirting the dock area, men in uniform patrolled the streets at intervals of about a block and bayonets glittered in almost a solid line all the way. Atop two towers where the fighting was thickest yesterday other machine guns crews commanded the situation.

A possibility the strike might spread sympathetically among ports of the Atlantic coast appeared in the statement of Joseph P. Ryan, president of the International Longshoremen's association, who said in New York:

A Day in 1858

The death of the Rev. Jasper Miller in Mattoon removed one more of those rare persons who knew Abraham Lincoln and remembered the grip of his hand. Rev. Mr. Miller recalled the Lincoln-Douglas debate in Charleston in 1858, and that both debates spent the previous night in Mattoon. He was one of a dozen men who had the pleasure of shaking hands with Lincoln.

Young Miller was bare-headed and bare-footed. Placing his hand on the boy's head, Mr. Lincoln said, "Young man, I wish I could go bare-footed."

According to tradition Lincoln did not like to wear a man's gown. In the simple life of those pioneer days, it was not amiss for people to go without shoes in the summer time. In fact it was a convenient way of saving one's leather.

Precious in the memory of Rev. Mr. Miller for all these years has been that day in 1858. The heart of a boy was made glad by the touch of the hand of a great man. Then there was a big parade next morning in Mattoon, and the lad marched with his father in the Democratic line. He recalled, however, that the Republicans seemed to have the biggest turnout.

It is easy to understand how these memories continued with Rev. Mr. Miller, even in his declining years. The Lincoln-Douglas debates were gala occasions forming an excuse for party rallies. We can well remember one of those oldtime rallies back in 1900. They were great stuff for the boys of that day, as well as for those whose memory dates back to the years before the civil war.

Let Diet Alone

We are inclined to believe the American people should be allowed to eat what they want. They carried on a long fight for the privilege of drinking what they want and there is no particular reason why their diet is to be restricted, that their diet should be restricted.

The Department of Agriculture recently created a furore by issuing a pamphlet urging that people cut down on the use of wheat and flour products. The Nation Food Bureau replied with a barrage of pamphlets to boost the use of wheat, and its executive, H. T. Corson, gave the government some plain talk.

He pointed out that a campaign against wheat foods would wreck the farming interests of Kansas and other wheat-growing states. He said the cut in acreage would have to be 16,000,000, instead of the 2,000,000 taken out by the AAA. Thousands of farmers would be ruined if they could not sell their wheat. They could hardly grow cabbage and turnips to make up the loss and if they did, these vegetables would soon glut the market.

All of which explains why it is dangerous to tamper with American diet. Let the people eat what they want, keep foodstuffs within their income, and they will take care of the farm surplus and a lot more besides.

What the farmers in this country want is better markets. There are too many kids in this fair land with their stomachs knocking against their backsides and their ribs visible thru their shirts for any dietician to talk of restricting consumption of wheat or any other food product. For healthy red-blooded Americans to eat a diet is really unpatriotic. Let's eat up the surplus.

A Legend Explained

Hamelin, Germany this year celebrates the 650th anniversary of the legendary visit of the Pied Piper and the tragic disappearance of all the children of the town after the city fathers refused to pay the piper for destroying the rats. The town has erected a monument to the piper, but has no good words for the officials who drove too hard a bargain.

The ancient legend appears in the school books and makes interesting reading for the modern children. Its only actual foundation may be found in the Children's Crusade which occurred in 1212. At that time 50,000 European children marched bravely away, fired by religious zeal to free the Holy Land from the Saracens. They died by the way and famine and pestilence and those who got beyond the borders of Europe fell into slavery.

The disappearance of the children of Hamelin is said to have occurred in 1284, but it is likely the legend has its origin in the children's crusade. We moderns find it hard to realize how parents could allow such an expedition. But ignorance and misdirected religious fervor caused it. The people of Europe had no way of knowing what lay beyond the small communities in which they lived and they must have imagined the children would be protected in some miraculous manner.

If You're Not a Reader of the Congressional Record, Don't Start... Mr. Truax Is Prominent Therein... And Likewise Kayo McCarthy... Also, One Will Rogers Is Helpful Contributor.

Washington, July 6.—Chances are, you don't read the Congressional Record. Just as a friendly warning, don't start.

You'll learn a lot you didn't know before, but you'd waste a lot of time in which you might be out playing badminton or something.

Anyway, you can depend on your congressman to send you anything in the Record he wants you to see. It probably will be a copy of some speech which he never made, but which did get into the Record, so he could mail it under government frank to convince you that he ought to be re-elected.

Three bulky Records full of never-delivered speeches has just arrived. The 473 pages include 32 speeches bragging about the New Deal and recent performances—among them one in verse—13 Republican attacks on the New Deal, one Democratic attack on the New Deal by Sen. Gore of Oklahoma, 26 memorial addresses and lots of outbursts about this and that.

I haven't read them all, but you might try these titles:

The Vultures, by Weideman; The Battle Is On, Lemke; Our National Archives Building—What Shall We Do With It?, Bloom; I Stood by the President, Disney; Interest Is Wall Street's Friend of Flesh, Will Rogers; The Record and Past Accomplishments of a Member of Congress Furnishes a Fairly Reliable Yardstick by Which to Measure the Character of Service His Constituents May Expect of him in the Future, Lozier; I Am Glad to Have Assisted the Veterans to Get Justice, Jenkins; On Our Way, But Where—100,000,000 People Ought to Know, Snell; We Have Made No Progress Toward Recovery, Taber.

Looking further, we find my Record in the Seventy-third Congress, O'Malley; Apportioning of Appointments in the Department of Agriculture Among the Several States, Territories, and the District of Columbia, Jenks; Wild Life in the United States and Keep the Home Fires Burning, Snyder.

And, to top it off, A New Declaration of Independence—A Modern Magna Charta Freedom for America From Tyranny, Confiscation and Oppression of the Shylocks and Money lenders; Italian Citizens of Ohio, Among Whom There Are None More Patriotic, Loyal or Progressive, Are Given Recognition by Appointment of Arthur de Luca as a Cadet to West Point; and Representative Truax Saves Taxpayers Approximately $20,000,000—all by Truax.

Truax Objects and Objects
Well, Mr. Truax—he's running for the Senate in Ohio and doesn't care what the House colleagues think of him—may have saved taxpayers $20,000,000. But he was darned lucky, in so doing, to save himself a punch in the nose.

When the unanimous consent calendar came up, Truax objected consistently to private bills which in many cases would have compensated citizens injured by mail trucks or by other dealings with the government.

Lots of folks were hating Mr. Truax as Congress adjourned.

Kayo McCarthy on Job
I also find in the Record an actual delivered speech by Congresswoman Kathryn O'Loughlin McCarthy of Kansas, defending her farm record against attacks back home.

"Remember my initials are K. O.," she said, "And Knock-Out McCarthy is in the job!"

And How Many Cents?
Nor can your correspondent acknowledge our common debt to Congressman Will Rogers of Oklahoma, who, in the closing days of the session during an attack on Wall Street, figured out how much you or I would have today if we had lent a dollar in the Year 1 A. D. at 6 per cent compound interest.

"By 1936," he reported, "it would have become, when enumerated, six quideillions, 913 quaterdecillions, 170 tredecillions, 171 duodecillions, 192 undecillions, 611 decillions, 82 nonillions, 296 octillions, 286 septillions, 188 sextillions, 899 quintillions, 244 quadrillions, 72 trillions, 412 billions, 784 millions, 553 thousand, and 729 dollars."

It doesn't make a bit of difference whether you believe that or not. And it is to be hoped that some stern constituent will demand of Rogers: "Well, what about the odd cents?" (Copyright, 1934, NEA Service, Inc.)

Man Whose Car Hit Cow Seeks $15,000
Ashland, July 6.—John T. Lockwood, Springfield, late yesterday afternoon filed a $15,000 damage suit in circuit court against the village of Ashland. The suit is an outgrowth of an accident last July 17 when Lockwood's auto hit a cow on the streets of Ashland.

The suit points out that the cow, roaming at will, was in violation of the village's ordinance and because of this the suit was directed at the village of Ashland. Joseph L. Moore, Springfield attorney, filed the suit in behalf of Mr. Lockwood.

The suit declares that Lockwood was severely injured as a result of the crash and that he has been put to great expense because of the accident.

WILL ROGERS says:

To the Editor of The Journal-Courier:

Beverly Hills, Calif., July 6.—Senator Borah, who I think is a mighty able and self thinking statesman, (you notice that I said statesman, a statesman is a man who can do what the politicians would like to do, but can't, because he is afraid of not being elected.)

Well Senator Borah, who spent the past winter with the Democrats, is leaving their bed and board, and has given instructions that he won't be responsible for any bills they incur. Now from the way his tracks led when he left their campfire, it looked like he might be headed for the Republican chuk wagon again. Or he may just camp on a hill where he can roll rocks down on both of 'em.

Yours, WILL ROGERS.

All of the parties who were seized with illness became so within three hours of partaking of the food. Matthew Darr's condition was reported as serious for some time. He became ill about three o'clock and the group started for Kane to take Dr. to the home of his sister, Mrs. John Brown, in Kane.

While enroute to the Brown residence, Mrs. Holton was stricken. When they arrived at the Brown home, Dr. Krohn of Kane, was summoned and later when other members of the group became ill, Dr. B. M. Brewster of Fledon was called into consultation.

The source of the food poisoning has been difficult to determine as all of the repast was prepared at Mrs. Bean and son, and Milton Darr were the only ones at the dinner who did not become ill.

AND UP, F. O. B. FLINT, MICHIGAN

When Chevrolet announced price reductions several weeks ago, something important happened . . . something of vital concern to every buyer of a low-priced car: Chevrolet stepped into the most favorable price position it has enjoyed in a long time!

Reductions amounting to as much as $50—the most substantial price cuts announced in the low-price field this year—dropped Chevrolet's base price to a new low figure of $465. Just compare this price—compare any Chevrolet price—with those of other cars. Then compare what you get for what you pay! There'll be no question in your mind which car to buy, once you do.

Chevrolet offers patented Knee-Action—and others do not! Chevrolet alone has a Fisher body! And the same thing applies to cable-controlled brakes, Y-K frame, shock-proof steering, and 80-horsepower, valve-in-head six-cylinder engine. Chevrolet gives you far more features—far finer quality—a far better name for dependability. Yet the price of the Chevrolet Standard is lower than that of any other six or, of course, any eight in the world.

STOCK VALUES
CREEP FORWARD

By Frederick Gardner.

Associated Press Financial Writer.

New York, July 6.—(P)—Stocks crept forward at a listless pace today but were unable to shake off speculative inertia.

Fractional gains were the rule as the market dragged to a quiet close. A few strong spots contributed gains ranging as high as about 3 points and investment demand lifted various preferred issues for sizeable advances.

Volume increased a little to 457,727 shares, compared with 440,466 yesterday. The Standard Statistics Co. average for 90 stocks moved sevenths of a point higher to 78.7.

Allied Chemical, which closed up 24 points, Cuban American Sugar preferred up 24 to a new peak and Coca Cola up 21 to a new peak and Lehman Corp. up 21, were outstanding strong spots. American Can, Chrysler, Bohn Aluminum, Commercial Investment Trust and Commercial Credit contributed gains of a point or more.

Santa Fe, Pennsylvania, New York Central and other prominent rail shares were only fractionally higher coincident with a favorable weekly car-loading report. Freight movement showed a contra-seasonal gain of 27,700 cars to a new peak for the year at 444,572. The previous high mark for 1934 was 425,773, reached in March.

The brightest aspect of the business picture at present, according to the weekly Dun & Bradstreet review, is the strength of retail trade. Hot weather, that agency said, has stimulated movement of seasonal goods into consumption and curtailment of manufacturing schedules holds out prospect of an abrupt upturn in production later in the year if distribution continues at current levels.

WHEAT MARKET
TIGHTENS UP

By John P. Boughan.

Associated Press Market Editor.

Chicago, July 6.—(P)—Tightening up of the wheat market as a whole resulted today from the fact that wheat available for immediate use was bringing a liberal premium.

The price of immediate delivery wheat went to the highest point in fifteen years as compared with future delivery contracts. Wonder was expressed in some quarters as to where the Chicago market would be able to obtain any large quantity of cash wheat after the prevailing movement from Illinois and Indiana was ended.

Rallying late in the day from early losses, wheat futures closed irregular, 1½ lower to 1½ higher than yesterday's finish, corn 1-1½ down, oats at 1-1 decline, and provisions showing 2 cents to 7 cents gain.

An outstanding circumstance in the wheat market was that for the first time in a long while No. 2 hard wheat at Kansas City was reported as changing hands at quotations, well above the December delivery there. Furthermore, it was announced a Nebraska mill had made an unsuccessful bid yesterday afternoon in Omaha for No. 2 hard at a price equal to 98 cents a bushel in Chicago. Another strengthening influence was a let-up of selling that has been associated with pressure of arrivals of newly harvested wheat from rural sources.

Millers were reported as active buyers of car-lots of wheat in the Chicago market, whereas offerings to arrive were of only fair volume. Moreover, frost was reported in Manitoba, as well as in southern and central Saskatchewan, with ice formed at some points, causing apprehension as to possible crop damage, the wheat plant in some districts north of the Canadian border being described as in bloom. Weakness of wheat values earlier in the day was ascribed largely to corn market setbacks resulting from timely rains over parts of the corn belt.

Iowa, Illinois and Nebraska sent word of good rains beneficial to corn with showers in Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma. There were also forecasts of additional moisture both in Oklahoma and Texas. Oats followed corn. Provisions advanced as a result of packers' buying.

RED CROSS TRAINS
C. C. C. YOUTHS
IN LIFE SAVING*Plan Program to Safeguard
Men in Conservation Corps Camps

A program to safeguard the men in the Civilian Conservation Corps camps throughout the nation has been launched by the Life Saving and First Aid Service of the American Red Cross.

The Red Cross offered its expert training courses in water safety and first aid to C. S. Marsh, educational director of the camps, who approved the courses as part of his campaign in practical training to fit the men for return to employment. Men trained in first aid are given preference in many industries when re-employment begins.

Under Harold P. Enlow, national director of Red Cross Life Saving and First Aid, trained Red Cross personnel will conduct the campaign by Army Corps Areas, with full cooperation of Army authorities.

The Fourth Corps Area, with headquarters at Atlanta, Georgia, was first to perfect its plans under C. A. Edson, the educational director. In 64 of the 265 camps in that area First Aid courses already are under way, with Army doctors now assigned to these camps conducting the lessons. These courses will be extended to other camps immediately, and are expected to lessen materially the number of accidents, both during work hours, on highways, and in recreation time.

One man from each of the 265 camps will be assigned to take the Life Saving course. This training will be given in three camps, from June 26 to 30, at Fort Barrancas, Florida, under Harry Kenning, Red Cross swimming expert; at Fort Oglethorpe, under Raymond S. Eaton, Red Cross expert and one at Fort Benning, Georgia, for colored Corporamen, with Army personnel conducting the lessons.

The life saving courses are to be taught for recreational purposes, safety and waterfront protection. Each trained will return to his camp prepared to teach swimming, life saving and resuscitation, and to form a life guard and also to properly safeguard the camp's swimming places.

The Red Cross in the Spring training 70,000 federal relief workers in First Aid, in a drive to cut the accident rate, and is still giving these courses through chapters to men engaged in work relief projects.

Recent reports to Red Cross headquarters stressed the value of the first-aid and other safety training in the CWA camps, many projects showing that after the training, injuries had fallen from a peak of 14 per week to one or none.
